FROM THE NATIONAL CAPITOL

[FROM OUR REGULAR CORRESPONDENT]

WASHINGTON, March 3 1873

Since the winding up of the investigation debate, and the condemnation passed upon Brooks and Ames the two Houses have been uninterruptedly at work on the appropriation bills, and such progress has been made that probably there will not be any important measures remaining to justify the calling of an extra session I remember alluding to the shiftless and dilatory way of doing things early in the Winter as almost criminal, and the proof of it is to be seen here at the present time when the Senate frequently holds all night sessions, and the minds of the honorable gentlemen of either House must be muddled from crowd of business and want of rest

I attended services at the Rev Dr Sunderland's Church yesterday morning, and that gentleman made a very plain talk upon the Sabbath breaking done to provide a ball room for to morrow, as well as in the sessions of one branch of Congress during a portion of the day He also spoke very earnestly with reference to the ignorance and folly—almost blasphemy—displayed in placing over the platform to be occupied by President Grant in the inauguration ball room, the inscription ecce homo, words that are only used with reference to Christ, and have become identified, by the especial practice of all Christians, with the martyrdom of our Savior Of course the President is unconscious of such intended use of the words and public attention being called to it, the committee of arrangements will undoubtedly have the inscription taken down

As I passed the Metropolitan Church, on returning from this same service, I saw the carriage of the President standing in front of it with the horses blanketed to protect them from the driving sleet One blanket bore the name "Egypt," so it is probable the distinguished equine has that name also Bad as the weather is this year, I noticed quite a crowd of people, some of them ladies, and no doubt strangers, waiting in the cold, with umbrellas up, to see His Excellency leave the Church and enter his carriage Sight seeing is a trade at the capital, and the President, poor man, is always gazed after by a gaping throng, which counts that in as a necessary show

THE PACIFIC RAILROAD AGAIN.

On Friday evening there was an interesting debate in the House on an amendment introduced to an appropriation bill, requiring the Attorney General to commence suits to enforce the paying in of the capital stock of the Union Pacific Railroad Company which, it seems, has never been paid up also to compel the disgorgement of the Company's funds that were paid out in shape of dividends in the Credit Mobilier Company or otherwise The debate was short, but was pointed Hoar, of Massachusetts, Wilson, of Iowa who introduced the amendment, and Kerr, of Indiana, were for the motion, and Sargent, of California, combatted Many other conflicting amendments were moved, but the House voted them down by large majorities, and finally passed the Wilson amendment to the Senate amendment by a very large majority The Senate amendment merely required the Secretary of the Treasury to withhold all payments for transportation due roads that owe interest, but the Wilson amendment requires suit to be commenced to enforce the paying up of the capital stock of the Union Pacific Railroad and the disgorging of Credit Mobilier dividends The world moves

It was noticeable that Mr Sargent was the leading opponent of this measure While he acknowledged that there was an evil to correct, he opposed this way of doing it, and wound up with a proposition of a satirical nature to have suits commenced against all those who built the Pacific Railroad, and to have the same abated as a nuisance I couldn't exactly see where the joke came in, but possibly there was a fine point to it somewhere It was clear that three-fourths of the House were earnestly for the amendment

RAISING SALARIES.

The question of raising salaries has claimed considerable attention, and it looks as though the two Houses would agree, not only to double the salary of the President, but to add handsomely to their own and the project even is made to revert back and cover the year of the present Congress. The people may possibly object, not that they are niggardly, but they might consider it as quite too liberal, and wonder when the extravagance will cease It is true that it costs much to live here, and that Cabinet officers, Judges, and heads of departments should be well paid There is not a Cabinet officer who can do justice to his position on the salary he receives, but a Congressman can get along without trouble with five thousand dollars a year and only an average of four months' service to render

THE DAY OF JUBILEE

Already the city is being decorated and the display on the avenue is becoming showy The broad street is in many places spanned by arches of flags of all nations, where the 'gorgeous ensign of the Republic' floats freest of all, but with the commingled hues of every nationality streaming about it The avenue is 125 feet wide, and streamers span it every little distance from gay arches, that flutter in the cold chill breeze, and light up the scene with fine effect To morrow will be the great day, of course, but trains are arriving with citizens and soldiery, and bands of music give stirring strains as they march by There are dense crowds on the streets, at the Capitol, in the hotels, everywhere, and it is easy to discover that the throngs are not to the manor born, but have come from the rural districts to have a great national holiday

All along the avenue, and the line of the procession, stands and elevated seats are being erected, and hired out at prices commensurate with the occasion Where all the tens of thousands are to sleep is a mystery How they are to obtain food is almost as great a one

The grand building erecting for the ball is cheap as to construction, but immense as to size, and it is to be hoped that it will prove safe and not precipitate the whole nation into mourning by some unparalleled disaster

After the affair is over I shall endeavor to work it up into a letter, and so close my Washington correspondence

BRITISH COLUMBIA

The Prince Alfred left Victoria for San Francisco on the 11th The Colonist of that date says that on her arrival at the latter port she will go into the dry dock

The Lieutenant Governor of British Columbia must hereafter be styled "Your Honor" instead of "Your Excellency," in accordance with instructions from the Home Government

The Prince Alfred, on her last trip from San Francisco to Victoria, had 66 passengers and 230 tons freight, besides a large mail She made the run from port to port in the quick time of 80 hours

The Colonist of the 11th inst says "The defective cable has been brought to Victoria for repairs It is much corroded and eaten and a week's time must elapse before through messages can be sent "

The Dominion Act respecting sick and disabled seamen has been extended over the Province of British Columbia Vessels visiting any port of the Province will pay two cents per ton once a year if 100 tons burthen or less, if over 100 tons, they will pay two cents per ton twice a year A vessel of the tonnage of the Prince Alfred would pay about $12 per year, and her sick or disabled seamen would be entitled to medical treatment and support without further charge to them or the ship

"Papa," said a little urchin to his father, the other day, "I saw a printer go down the street just now "

"Did you, sonny? How did you know the person was a printer?"

"Because I do, pa "

"But he might have been a carpenter, blacksmith, or a shoemaker "

"Oh, no, papa, he was a printer—likely an editor—for he was gnawing a bone, and had no stockings on. The crown was out of his hat, and his coat was all torn. I am certain he was a printer "

OREGON

A camp meeting will be held at the Newsom camp ground in Marion county, commencing on the 5th day of June

The receding waters of the Wallamet left the Salem ferry boat high and dry on the Polk county side last Sunday night

Mr Stedman, of Clarkesville Baker county, had his leg broken last week by the upsetting of a sleigh in which he was riding

Mr. Stacy, of Auburn, has killed a large number of fine hogs during the past winter, many of them weighing when dressed 400 pounds each

There are no idle men around Baker City, and there is employment for more men than are at present there The demand is on the increase at good wages

James Cassiday, sent to the penitentiary from Multnomah county, in 1871, has been discharged—his time less the days gained by good behavior having expired

The Baker City Democrat says there is no disease among the horses of that county or of Eastern Oregon, nor has there been during the winter We are glad of it

An untenanted house was set on fire at Salem last Sunday evening, and the whole town was out quickly, but fortunately the damage was very slight Some hoodlum started the fire for fun.

The China wedding of Mr A B Cosper and wife of Salem, occurred last week, as did also the crystal wedding of Mr T H. Cox and wife Both were made very pleasurable occasions to all the parties

Commissions were issued on Monday at the Executive office for the following named persons H. B Nicholas, Notary Public, Portland, Samuel G Candle, St Helens, Geo W Brown, Commissioner of Deeds for Oregon, to reside in New York, Matthew Davenport, Notary Public, Umatilla county

The Statesman says ' Many hundreds of settlers in Minnesota wish to come to Oregon, if they can sell out The room of scores of our discontented people here, who intend to move away from Oregon to a land of perfection, will be filled by persons from the western and north western States shortly '

The Statesman says "The new bridge across the Abaqua, near James Tucker's was destroyed by the freshet last Tuesday This is the third bridge at that point that the county has lost within about twelve years There is a road surveyed and approved from Gervais to Silverton, crossing the Big Pudding river at a good place about one mile below Parkersville, and crossing Abaqua one mile above the present point, so disastrous to bridges "

The Baker City Democrat of the 12th says "For the past week there has been every appearance that spring weather is upon us. The snow has disappeared from our streets, the frost is almost out of the ground, and the mud and water is fast drying up—especially where the sun has full force—and the walking is becoming good. The snow is passing from the hills and mountains around us, and the hillsides, where the rays of the warm sun strikes fair, begin to put on their coat of green, everything begins to look bright and joyous "

THE TERRITORIES

The Seattle Dispatch is to be enlarged.

According to the ninth census returns the value of manufactured goods for Washington Territory in 1870 was $2,851,052.

An effort is being made by the citizens of Seattle to have the Western Washington Industrial Association hold its next annual Fair at that place

The Steilacoom Express says : Capt. Gregory, one day last week lost, near Vashon Island, about 180 fathoms of line with some 500 hooks, all of which were carried away by sharks Several sharks have been caught by the Captain, and from their livers a large quantity of oil extracted

The bark Czarovich was lying in Port Townsend harbor on the 14th She is bound for Seattle to load with coal, we are informed The Narragansett arrived at Port Ludlow Thursday, 13th inst , to load with lumber The schooner Active sailed from Seattle for San Francisco the 13th inst

The islands of St George and St Paul, Alaska, now furnish two thirds of all the fur seal peltry of the globe, the slaughter of the animal at those islands having been so restricted and regulated that the fishery has been preserved, while other seal resorts have been utterly broken up by the rapacity and greed of invading parties.

In the District Court at Port Townsend last week. The libel of John L Butler against the ship Ocean Traveler for half pilotage, was sustained This settles the question as to the legality of the Territorial Pilot Law which holds foreign vessels liable for half pilotage Considerable other business was done in Court, but not of public importance.

The schooner Isabella was blown on a rock on Vancouver's Island on Tuesday of last week, and went to pieces She was loaded with cattle and barley, of the first of which four head were saved, and of the last forty sacks She was an English schooner, and her cargo was bound up the coast for the Victoria market The Indians had a feast from the carcases of the dead cattle, and have saved every bit of the meat that was possible for their future wants

VALLEJO, March 18 —The thermometer showed 63 deg. in the shade here to day

Mrs Page is pronounced out of danger and will recover

The Farragut Boat Club will give the ball of the season at Vallejo on Thursday night

The Lynching Affair.

MONTEREY March 18 —The feeling here respecting the hanging of Matt Tarpey, is condemnatory of the act The mob, who were unmasked in broad daylight , bound the Sheriff in the street leaving a guard over him, and proceeded to the jail where the prisoner was confined. With a sledge hammer they bursted in the front door, (wooden) Only three or four entered the jail These battered down the iron cell door and brought the accused out After binding him and placing him in an open wagon they conveyed him out of town Tarpey's body was found last night hanging to the limb of a tree about 3 miles from town, and was brought to this place. Coroner Pardee is holding an inquest over the body. Little as yet has been elicited at the inquest, inasmuch as parties who did not belong to the mob were not allowed to approach the spot were Tarpey was hanged. It appears, however, that Tarpey made a speech which may hereafter be reported and that he was cool and composed to the last. With regard to the character of the mob, the leaders were apparently men of respectability Tarpey being a passionate man and an individual of considerable courage, has often taken a leading part in such justice heretofore. He was not permitted to have a word with his aged mother, who was but a few steps from him in the jail. Tarpey was buried to-day at half past four The inquest has been continued over until to-morrow

WATSONVILLE, March 18.—A statement is published this evening by Mr Nicholson, to correct some errors in the dispatches published in to-day's paper. The thousand dollars said to be willed, was given as a restitution to Nicholson by Tarpey for wood wrongfully cut and sold from the land after it had been sold to Nicholson. Tarpey asked Mr Nicholson to forgive him, which request was granted He then fell on his knees and begged him to place his hand on his head, which was done There were no shots fired into the body as it hung in the tree, by anyone. Two shots were fired in the air by some one, after the execution, which probably gave rise to the unfounded report, as telegraphed.

STOCKTON, March 18 —About 3 o clock this morning Frank Hinschi's tannery, on Mormon Slough, below Center street was destroyed by fire. The Loss is about $4 000 Insured for $3,000 The origin of the fire is not known It is supposed to be the work of an incendiary

Subscriptions to the stock of the Stockton and Ione City Narrow Gauge Railroad amount to forty thousand dollars

Something About the New Peace Commission

YREKA, March 18 —Col, Sprague, Paymaster, and Wm Hoag, Contractor, arrived to-day from headquarters. They report all quiet at the front. The soldiers are all in good health and spirits The military are waiting for the deliberations of the new Peace Commission, which will meet near the lava bed, at Van Bremer's where military headquarters have been established. Prospects that the Indians will come out for a talk are favorable, if they do not come the military will "go for" them The officers have gained full knowledge of every portion of the lava bed and its caves

"One More Unfortunate "

Yesterday morning a Chinaman was found hanging in a cabin on Greenhorn It is supposed that he committed suicide, though no proof was elicited at the Coroner's inquest which would determine whether he hung himself or was hung by means or at the instigation of others.

Mysterious Disappearance.

A man named George Krized, aged 35 years, resident on the south fork of Scott river, has been missing about six weeks He came to Yreka about six weeks ago, and on returning homeward stopped at Charley's on the other side of Forest House Mountain, in Scott valley He started back toward Yreka, since which time nothing has been heard of him He was a young man well thought of, honorable upright in his dealings, owes no one, and there is no good cause why he should disappear so mysteriously

About "Dyspeptic Cynicism"

Shall [illegible] and [illegible] and thus [illegible] utter bull [illegible] of [illegible] from the career of his humor?" — [illegible]

Our contemporary, the personal organ, is out of humor — in the condition described by Carlyle to Max Robespierre "fermenting daily into al gar, the mother of ever new alegar, till body and soul are grown acetous virulent." To the editor of that second column be he adipose junior or "small, ineffectual looking" senior, the community is indebted for the remarkable aphorism "When dyspeptic cynicism essays it wit it usually makes a failure. The Bulletin sneezes at our wit." That is good. We reciprocate. In the personal organ of yesterday we find an article on "Juvenile Parties." The subject appears to be well adapted to the peculiar calibre of the editor of the second column. For chaste diction it equals the sublimest reaches of Beadle's thrilling dime novels. Here is a specimen: "Our dear girls go it while they're young, and so, when they get old they can't." Isn't that elegant?

Next, a profound physico social truth: "To keep up the lick, what can they expect, when they reach the top of the hill so much earlier than they ought to mount it, but to slide as rapidly down?" The sentence loses none of its pungency by assuming an interrogative form,—it cannot afford to lose much of its artistic correctness. The phrase "to mount it" lends peculiar grace and euphony,—it is in no sense superfluous.

Next, a profound physical truth: "As the pendulum goes forward it must correspondingly come back." Upon the truth of this proposition depends the reliability of all the clocks in Christendom. The editor of the second column offers no proof to sustain his startling assertion. Fortunately for the world, Galileo saw the swinging lamp in a day when "the aforesaid editor" was wandering, like Guillotin, "a disconsolate ghost on the wrong side of Styx and Lethe."

Next, a vigorous plunge into Dynamics: "as the rocket shoots rushingly upward and exhausts all its fire and display while it rises, the poor stick and burnt-out mould—which is all that is left of it—will fall to the earth in darkness and uncared for in the double-quick of a departed spirit!" Rushingly is good, also. That is just the way in which rockets shoot, they shoot "rushingly" and "upward." Then the serene faith that beams in every molecule of "the poor stick," so indicative of a spirit reposing quietly on the law of gravitation! How cautiously the assurance "which is all that is left of it" treads midway of the sentence like the frightened ghost of a truth fearful of suspicion! The velocity of departed spirits is here defined with exactness. The assumption that ghosts move faster than a dog-trot is wholly gratuitous, however, unless we concede that like some in the earth-life they are open to the mild persuasion of a pistol presented netherwards.

Next, an olla podrida of Dynamics, Moral Science, and Botany. "Better, we say again, go slow;" "as the twig is bent the tree will be inclined." For want of space we can cull no more of these flowers of rhetoric for our readers. We want to suggest, though, that as soon as the jokes on "Prince Taxis" go to seed, it would be well to send some of the pods to the Agricultural Department. The editorial on "Juvenile Parties" could be subdivided into essays on Ethics, Dynamics, Cinematics and Pyrotechnics, and published in a condensed form. The author would make money by buying up the edition.

Let not these few friendly criticisms chill his aspirations for fame. He has been an editor for twenty years, they say. In another score of years he may learn the value of the old adage about glass houses. Our suggestions may point a moral, that his vitreous domicile is exceedingly friable, that his literature has too much of the appearance of gentility running away from vulgarity—a sure sign that they are not far asunder.

The New York Legislature has had a stormy session so far. A perfect gehenna of rings and rings within rings,—a kind of asylum for politicians tossed aside by the famous Reform and for villainy grown decrepit during its brief season of retirement from office, —it has been a scene of such confusion as is rarely witnessed even in our national capital. Tammany was ejected from office by an uprising of the people. The Tammany which went out laden with the spolia optima of political service is scarcely more to be dreaded than the Tammany which threatens to come in. Hardly had the Reform Mayor—Havemeyer—entered upon his office, when there arose at Albany a party whose sole object seemed to be the acquisition of power at the expense of municipal reform. The fight seems chiefly to have been made over the new charter for the metropolis. But one most important feature in the controversy was the Jury Bill. This bill confers upon the Courts the power to decide upon the qualifications of jurors. The measure was an innovation. It provided for a radical change in the jurisprudence of the State. In its discussion a bitter feud was carried on, and Americans had before them the singular and unpleasant spectacle of a party at war with the magistrate of its choice ere he had been three months in office. Late dispatches announce the passage of this bill. It is a source of genuine satisfaction—the intelligence that one cause of this unhappy quarrel has been removed. The charter remains to provoke the score of rings that infest the legislative halls at Albany.

New York is patching up her code and reconstructing her judiciary. Barnard and Cardozo have passed out of political life, but the necessity which drove them from the bench still exists. At any rate, the people have tired of the old system, and the politicians are clamoring for a change. The Constitutional Convention at Albany has adopted a most important amendment to the Constitution of the State. It provides that in all cities of three hundred thousand inhabitants or upward, judicial officers of all courts which are not courts of record, shall be appointed by the Governor. This patronage if judiciously "put where it will do the most good," ought to add a new element of power to the gubernatorial station in New York.

Ben Butler facetiously says "this is a bad year for the righteous." Doubtless General John C. Fremont acquiesces, for in addition to the Memphis and El Paso Railroad swindle, the failure of the Cincinnati firm of G. W. Marton & Co. involves him. The firm has been declared bankrupt.

Among the ten appointments at large for cadets of the United States Military Academy, we notice the name of George M. Derby, son of the late Lieutenant Derby (John Phœnix).

Two modes of procedure present themselves to the defeated Premier: first, to resign; second, to dissolve Parliament and appeal to the country through a new election. Procrastination seems to be the policy of Mr Gladstone. The situation in England is very peculiar. Public sentiment must be in a very unsettled state. The fears of Mr. Disraeli's supporters are indicative of this. How long could the office of Prime Minister go begging in the United States? Mr Gladstone makes frequent trips to the country and to Buckingham Palace. The Conservatives act as though they were suspicious of a trap. The Premier shows a decided disinclination to yield to his defeat. The Radicals are interested of course, but we cannot ascertain their position exactly. "Sly Reynard, the fox," enters largely into this complication.

Our San Francisco dispatches make brief mention of the editorial comments of the London press on the defeat of the Ministry. The Advertiser and the Standard are jubilant over the rejection of the Irish University bill. The Advertiser says it cannot imagine that even Gladstone will stoop to remain in office. The Times considers the resignation of the Ministry extremely doubtful.

Forty seven Liberals, of whom thirty six were Irishmen, voted against it. Fifteen Irishmen voted for it, seventeen members, including Isaac Butt, member from Limerick, were absent. Forty members participated in the debate. John Bright and Jacob Bright, his brother, and the Marquis of Lorne, supported the Government.

The Bar Association of New York city are discussing the propriety of a change in the present jury system. At a meeting held on the 11th inst., a resolution was adopted, recommending to the Constitutional Convention an amendment to the State Constitution which will make a concurrent vote of nine jurors a legal verdict in all civil cases and such criminal actions as are not punishable by death. The Association suggests, also, that provision be made for a special jury, of five to try questions of sanity.

At the request of a number of persons, we republish this morning a decision of His Honor Judge Deady, upon the construction of the Donation law. The doctrine here laid down is not new—that is, it had been announced long before the decision of this case. It was first held in the case of Field vs. Squires, in 1868, which is reported in 1 Deady's Reports, 281, and was followed by the Supreme Court of the State in Field vs. J. P. O. Lownsdale et al, and in Delay vs. Chapman.

Democracy in the Senate refuses to be comforted with one member on each Committee and so notified the Republicans. There is no wailing and gnashing of teeth. "Nothing of the sort!" Only a proud reminder of the ancient dignity of the party, and a stately reminiscence of "what might have been." So the Republican caucus, after long and patient deliberation, decided the point well taken and acceded to them two members.

The vote for United States Senator in joint convention of the General Court of Massachusetts, stood as follows: Boutwell, 152, Dawes, 115; Loring, 2, J. R. Tarbox, 2, Wm. Whiting, 2, C. G. Greene, 2,—making 275 votes in all. Necessary to a choice, 138.

Major Samuel Woods from present duties is assigned as Chief Paymaster of the Pacific, and Colonel Robert Allen is ordered to report for assignment as Chief Quartermaster of the Department in the Military Division of the Pacific.

Isaac Hyde of San Francisco threatens to go into history as a benefactor of his race. He is the inventor of a process designed to lighten the labors of the "pale seamstress," which, if it shall work in practice one-half as well as is claimed, will indeed be a blessing to the thousands of tired laborers in shop and in home. Of this invention the S. F. Bulletin says:

"The attachment consists of a neat iron water case about one foot in diameter, which is attached to the left side of the table. Within the case is a brass water wheel, modeled after the wheel ordinarily used in the manufactories, that utilizes this power, weighing six ounces and measuring eleven inches in diameter. Two pipes connect with the case, one running from a point on the floor to the front side of the case, and about on a line with its centre, and the other, a waste pipe, leading from the rear end of the case to and through the floor. The volume of water, involving, of course, the motive power of the machine, is controlled by the operator, who simply presses one foot upon the iron foot that is substituted for the treadle. The stream of water running upon the wheel is no larger than a darning needle, though the pipe, save at a point within an inch of the wheel, is an inch in diameter. The water passes a few inches in the cups of the wheel and is then thrown off by the centrifugal force and passed down the waste pipe. An ordinary tank pressure of twenty feet or the pressure from the Spring Valley water pipes will run the machine at a high rate of speed, causing it to sew 225 yards of cloth while the ordinary operator would be showing through 150 yards. It is calculated to create happy homes and reduce medical expenses."

THE FREE LIST ENTIRELY SUSPENDED ON THE UNION PACIFIC RAILROAD.—Horace F. Clark, President of the Union Pacific Railroad, now here upon business of the company, says that over three thousand free passes have been applied for this year, many of them in the interest of Senators and members of Congress, as well as other officials, but last night the Executive Committee decided that hereafter no free passes over the road shall either be printed or issued. The pro rata fare to San Francisco and return is $112. The Directors of the company are trustees of the entire interests. The Executive Committee have been compelled to look into the rights and privileges of the company to issue free passes, as well as to seek every possible revenue to enable the company to pay its working expenses and liabilities, and if possible, dividends to stockholders. Now that the Government withholds the pay for its freight, the necessity of cutting off the free list is imperative. On a recent through train there were eighty-one free passes.—Washington Correspondence N. Y. Tribune.

A MORMON FUNERAL.—Mrs. Stenhouse, in her lecture on Mormon life, told the funny story of Sister Pickuel's funeral. The following was Bishop Hardy's sermon: "Wal, brethren and sisters, you are all here, I spose, and so we'll begin. Our sister has suffered and made others suffer, but now she's dead we'll let her rest. She opened the door to the devils and let them in five years ago when her husband took his young wife. I told her then they would kill her if she did not take care, and now they've done it. She was a torment to her husband and I guess if he'd know'd that she'd a bin such a torment he'd never married her. Ain't that so, brother Pickuel?" "That's so, Bishop." "Wal, brother Pickuel, have you got anything to say?" "Not as I know'd on, but I 'spose I ought to say sum'at, but if I do I shall be sure to offend some of the sisters, so I 'spose we'd better close the meetin'." Thus ended the funeral service.

There is said to be a woman in California who is 137 years old. Her parents can point to her with pride as a specimen of their success in raising children. So says the Louisville Courier-Journal.

THE MISSING STEAMER

Additional Intelligence—The Scene of the Wreck

VICTORIA, March 17.—The steamer Sir James Douglas arrived here on Saturday at 6 P. M., bringing the sad news confirmatory of the former reports with regard to the loss of the steamer George S. Wright and every one belonging to her. The Douglass left Nanaimo on Saturday morning. She reports the steamships Petrel, Lincoln and Gussie Telfair as lying there, having after an untiring and penetrating search been compelled to return to that port without the joyful news which would have set many an aching heart at rest. Mr Nicholls, of the Oregon Steam Navigation Company, and Mr Joseph Spratt of this city arrived on Saturday and from the few facts which have been brought to light we gather that the unfortunate steamer is known to have called at Fort Tongass on or about the 14th of January, as she was moving her [illegible] up the [illegible] where she took on board the usual mails, and a little freight. A Frenchman from Omineca and Mr John Williams who was possessed at the time of embarkation of the sum of $16,000 in gold dust. Still continuing her passage up the Wright is known to have arrived at Sitka in safety and at the latter place Messrs Charles Kincaid and Charles Waldron, as well as Lieutenant Dodge United States Army and servant were added to the living freight, which then numbered 31 souls all told. Mr Waldron was the owner of a fishing station at a small bay called Klawock, whither the steamer proceeded for the purpose of taking in freight consisting of some 800 barrels of salmon and an assortment of skins, furs, oils, etc. On the 25th of January she sailed from that place for Nanaimo. The steamer Gussie Telfair called in at many ports on the coast, amongst them Klawock, the last harbor the Wright is known to have been at. At Bella Bella Mr Gardner, purser, purchased a barrel of oil which the Indians had picked up on the shore a distance of 200 miles from the place where the wreck was first discovered—Cape Caution. It is also said that parts of the rigging were found an immense distance up the coast, and that signs of a rough habitation having been erected by white people are still visible; but in contradiction of the latter report, the Indians affirm that they have seen nothing of either wreck or crew.

H. M. S. Petrel has also prosecuted a strict search along the coast, firing off rockets and guns to attract the attention of any living creature, but all without the desired result. Capt. Stanley describes the coast as the roughest and wildest he has, in the whole course of his experience witnessed. He also pictures the neighborhood of Cape Caution as a perfect pyramid of surf and breakers. To effect a landing there, unless with very favorable weather would be a thing impossible.

The Petrel has secured the signboard of the ill fated steamer, bearing the inscription G. S. Wright, and has cruised around Queen Charlotte's Island, but without tidings of the lost. She also sustained some slight damage to her keel, and has been beached at Nanaimo for repairs, which will be trivial. The cluster of rocks known as the Devil's Reef is doubtless the locality of the catastrophe. If such be the case, the finding of the wreckage on Cape Caution is easily accounted for, as these two dangerous places are in close proximity to each other. Amongst those who have lost their lives, John Williams was well known, and a resident of this city. He leaves a wife and family to mourn his loss.

By the Gussie Telfair we have news which only tends to corroborate the preceding information, but she gives a list of passengers known to have been on board. They are as follows: Maj. Walker, U. S. A., and wife, Lieut. Henry G. Dodge, Battery C, Second U. S. Artillery, and formerly Quartermaster at Sitka, John Williams of Victoria, Mr Bischelmer, a soldier, and formerly Quartermaster's clerk at Sitka, Charles Waldron, Charles Kincaid, a man supposed to be named Hagan from St Ikoon, and son, and a cooper who used to work at Klawok, name unknown.

Location of the Disaster

The Telfair reports that there is little doubt that the Wright was wrecked upon a sea otter group, which consists of low sunken rocks, about six miles outside of Queen Charlotte Sound. Confirmatory of which supposition are the facts that portions of the wreck were found in Wright's Sound, 250 miles north, and in Seaforth Channel some ninety miles north of the wreck. The pilot house, half of a mast and portions of the main deck, together with a number of deer skins and other fragments of freight, were also visible at Cape Caution, and in this locality it would have been utterly impossible to effect any landing or indeed on any part of the open coast along which vestiges of the missing one are to be seen. The Gussie Telfair called in at every port laid down on the chart between the two extreme points of the trip, but after a most energetic and praiseworthy search could glean no information other than that already reported. The Telfair has on board the sign board of the Wright procured from the Petrel, which, with other portions of the wreck, she will carry to Portland as remembrances of this unfortunate event. She will leave at daylight this morning, and among her passengers will be A. Levi, of Sitka, a Russian priest, four U. S. soldiers, and others whose names are not ascertained.

The U. S. cutter Lincoln left Nanaimo at 4 A. M. yesterday for Port Townsend.

The Caldwell Bribery Case

In the Senate, on the 11th inst., Senator Caldwell of Kansas offered his defense against the charge of bribery and corruption. The document concludes as follows:

"I here most solemnly declare I did not directly or indirectly pay or cause to be paid one dollar, or any other thing of value, or any consideration whatever, for any man's vote for me for the Senate. Am I then to be the victim of a wicked conspiracy? Are these bold, bad men, whose very names are the synonym of sin and corruption in my own State, to succeed by fraud and by their own false statements in bringing disgrace and ruin upon me; and that not because I choose to cross their political paths, but because I decline to submit to their unrighteous demands? For the past eighteen months I have been compelled to submit to misrepresentation and abuse to a much greater degree than usually falls to the lot of one man. My pursuers have been constantly on my track, following me from Kansas to Washington and from Washington to Kansas, and, wherever they could, have prejudiced me in the estimation of newspapers, turning upon me the wrath of an all powerful press. I beg the Senators to reflect that it is not to retain a seat in this body that I have for the past eighteen months been resisting the designs of these men, but rather to defeat in this House an infamous attempt to disgrace and dishonor my name."

Senator Carpenter addressed the Senate and expressed regret that his voice was in such condition as to preclude his making but very brief remarks on this subject. The Senate, he said, was here not to make laws to apply to the case of Caldwell, but to administer the laws as already enacted. The Senators were here trying this case as Judges. This being the case, he had listened with great regret to the bitter and harsh attack made on Caldwell of Kansas yesterday by the Senator from Indiana (Morton), who was sitting here as a Judge. He had never heard Senators, even in bitter political debate, evince such warmth and indignation as he did yesterday. The Senator from Indiana was, it must be said, inexperienced in politics. He was in the higher walks of statesmanship and knew nothing about the dirty pool of politics. There never was any money spent to carry elections in Indiana, and the moneyed men of Boston, New York and Philadelphia would testify, if called upon, how elections were conducted in their States. He (Carpenter) did not know how they carried on political contests in the Garden of Eden—probably as they did in Indiana. But in other States it was different. In Wisconsin money was spent in the campaign, not to bribe voters, but to pay for music, decoration, etc. And so it was in all other States but Indiana. Mr. Carpenter then went on to say that with the exception of the transaction with Gov Carney, which was not denied, there was no reliance to be placed in the testimony. It was all hearsay. There was not in the whole of it one word of judicial proof that any member of the Legislature had been paid anything to vote for Mr. Caldwell. No Judge on the bench would regard for an instant such testimony as is before the Senate in this case, and the Senate is to consider as Judges. Commenting on the testimony of Carney, he said that it was established beyond doubt that Carney had expressed himself for twelve months as being determined to get Caldwell off his seat. Clark was also his bitter enemy. He (Carpenter) asked the Senate to carefully scan the testimony before they cast a vote to disgrace Caldwell. He simply asked for Caldwell what he would ask for a murderer at the bar. He asked the Senate to do what he would ask a Judge to do—his duty regardless of the howlings of the mob outside.

On the 12th.

The Caldwell case was resumed by the Senate. Conkling said he could find no instance in which the British Parliament, anterior to the statute and anterior to the order of the House of Commons which became a statute, annulled ad initio an election because of bribery, by a candidate, of a particular person.

Logan argued that the election of Caldwell was an act of the Legislature, behind which the Senate, as decided by the Court, could not go; but an attempt was made to vitiate the election on the ground of a single act of bribery. Under what rule or authority was this to be done? The statutes of England have no controlling or binding effect upon us. He called upon the Senator from Indiana to produce one case as a parallel to that now before them.

Morton in alluding to Logan's course in the Committee on Elections, said he was not prepared to hear his present argument.

Logan replied that he did not desire to detail the discussion had before the committee. It was enough for the Senate to know that he dissented from the report of the committee in this case, and on examination, he thought his former views were incorrect. He then proceeded to show that from the testimony, the Senate could not be warranted in finding Caldwell guilty of any act of bribery, and that every witness on which the Senator from Indiana relied, was contradicted by four or five witnesses of better reputation.

Stockton argued that there was no question in the case over which the Senate had control. The examination of individual motives was a violation of the Constitution, and the most dangerous doctrine ever introduced. The Senate had no right to inquire beyond the constitutional provision.

Morton replied to the legal part of the argument, maintaining that the power of inquiry into the election carried with it the right to inquire into everything connected with it. The Senate has to protect itself from a Senator clotted by bribery.

Debate on the case will be resumed to-morrow.

Father, romp with the children. In leaving your business at evening, lay aside your austerity and money-making. Greet the little ones at home cordially and pleasantly. Then be a boy again, with a larger growth added, if need be. Do not repulse the approaches and caresses of the children. Down on the floor with them. Play doll, roll the ball, take a cup of tea out of the little cup, and for a time humor the baby whims. It won't hurt you, and by so doing you will open a whole world of sunshine into the hearts of these household pets. And they will remember it as long as they live. They will not look upon "papa" as a statue, but as part and parcel of their own happy existence. Let not the demands of the club or lecture or political meeting hinder you from giving a few minutes to intimate and kindly intercourse with your children. It will take the rust off your own heart, and will be as diamonds glittering all along their youthful pathway.

A hanging garden of sponge is one of the latest novelties in gardening. Take a white sponge of large size, and sow it full of rice, oats or wheat. Then place it for a week or ten days in a shallow dish and as the sponge will absorb the moisture, the seeds will begin to sprout before many days. When this has fairly taken place the sponge may be suspended by means of cords from a hook in the top of the window where a little sun will enter. It will thus become like a mass of green, and can be kept wet by merely immersing it in a bowl of water.

A Washington dispatch of the 12th inst hints at the probable policy of the President in the matter of Indian Superintendencies. It says:

B. C. Whiting is circulating a petition for reappointment as Superintendent of Indian Affairs for California, but the President, under the authority of the recent law, expresses himself disposed to abolish all superintendencies except four, which in his discretion he may designate for continuance. The names and locality of the four superintendencies above mentioned are not given.

"IT LOOKS EASY."—A minister being absent one Sunday, one of the deacons undertook to preach. After talking about fifteen minutes he gave it up, and coming down from the pulpit, remarked to the congregation: "It looks very easy to preach, but if any of you think you can do better than that, just get up and try it."

WEDNESDAY MORNING, MARCH 19, 1873

CITY.

TO OTHER QUARTERS.—There has been a decided falling off in the number of arrests made by the police force for the past two weeks. This can not be attributed to a want of efficiency on the part of the officers, or a relaxation of vigilance. The decrease was observable since the spring has fairly opened, and good weather again come. With the advent of spring a large proportion of that worthless class of inhabitants composed of vags, thieves, bummers, and persons afflicted with light fingered propensities, have taken their departure for more congenial latitudes. Like migratory birds they have flown to a climate which offers a better opportunity to practice their adopted callings. Now that good weather will soon arrive, many who are industriously disposed, will seek the mines or the several lines of railroad where employment is likely to be obtained, while the more worthless are induced to scatter out and try their fortunes in other regions. During the winter months this city becomes a kind of rendezvous for these "fellows of the baser sort," who congregate hither from motives of self-protection. Such fellows must live, you know, food and raiment must be obtained—honestly, if possible, dishonestly, if necessary. Even the comforts of the city jail, with its blankets, stoves and good wholesome fare, is a thing not to be despised by these fellows. The city must provide for them in these essentials, when the law has them in its clutches. They steal something of trifling value, or get drunk with a persistence worthy of a better cause, and these necessaries in the way of food and lodgings will be furnished gratis while the city must pay the musicians. An examination of the arrest book will show that a larger proportion of the arrests made and offenses committed, occur between the middle of November and the middle of March than during the remaining portion of the year. Until winter approaches we can safely depend upon a marked decrease in drunkenness, vagrancy, and crimes of greater magnitude.

"ART OF PLEASING."—This will constitute the subject of a lecture to be delivered this evening at the Taylor Street M. E. Church by the Rev. Dr Lindsley. The following are the most prominent points touched upon by the lecturer: "The intercourse of life compels observance of rules and ceremonies which constitute the Manners of a People. Public and social civilities. Advantages and Pleasures of Good Breeding. Why some men treat politeness with contempt. Washington and Chief Justice Marshall. All Americans are under obligation to be Gentlemen. The character of a Gentleman. Philip Sydney, Aaron Burr, Gen Jackson, Talleyrand and others. The affected style—the eccentric—the punctilious—the rude. Courteousness has its hidden source, as well as visible streams. The Model for all ages." The lecture is embellished with apt quotations from various authors, and illustrated by practical examples; and as Dr. L. has bestowed more than ordinary care in placing the points of this subject in a pleasing and forcible manner before his audience, all who attend cannot fail to realize that they have enjoyed a literary treat seldom equalled. The proceeds will be appropriated to the good of the public. Appropriate music will be provided for the occasion. Admission fifty cents. The lecture is specially directed to the young. Every man in the city should attend.

INCORPORATED.—In the County Clerk's office yesterday, articles of incorporation were filed by the following persons, who are vestrymen and wardens of Trinity Parish: Matthew P. Deady, Lloyd Brooke, Geo H. Flanders, Edwin F Russell, C. H. Lewis, Sylvester Pennoyer, John Mc Craken, R. B. Wilson, and Rodney Glisan.

The title of the corporation is, "The Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen of Trinity Parish, Portland.

The object and purpose of this corporation is to provide for and maintain the public worship of Almighty God and the preaching of the Gospel in the said Parish according to the faith and doctrines and liturgy and usages of the Protestant Episcopal Church; to maintain and establish therein such charitable and educational institutions as may be under the control and direction of the Rector, Wardens and Vestrymen.

The property and money now owned by the Parish is estimated at $30,000, and its sources of revenue are the voluntary contributions of the congregation.

The Parish includes all that part of Portland lying and being north of Taylor street and East of Thirteenth and North Thirteenth streets, and the church is located on the south half of block 69.

CONTRACTS LET.—The plans and specifications for the new brick buildings which are to occupy the eastern portion of the block between Alder and Morrison streets, on Front, are finished, and work on the foundations will be commenced soon. This row of buildings will be owned by the following persons: C. M. Wiberg, Capt. Chas. Holman, Wm. Gray and J. A. Fisher. The whole front will occupy 100 feet on Front street. Three of the buildings are 75 feet long, and one 85 feet. They will be constructed of brick and will be two stories in height. Each building will be separated by a fire proof wall. The contract for the iron frontings, doors, windows, etc., has already been let, and the contracts for the wooden and masonry work are to be let on Saturday next.

LADEN ARREST.—Peter G. Koch was taken in to custody yesterday morning on a charge of larceny by bailee. The charge was preferred by a Miss Johnson. The plaintiff alleges that a sum of money equal to about $300 was sent to her several months ago by her husband. Koch was acting in the capacity of an attorney at the time, and received the money as such. She further avers that he has failed to pay that sum over to her, although it came into his possession last January. The defendant was arrested on a warrant issued from the Police Court, and being unable to procure bonds was committed to jail. The case will come up for investigation this morning, when the true state of affairs will be determined.

NORTH FRONT STREET.—A much needed work is at present being done along North Front street, between C and E. For months the plank roadway along the street for that distance has been in an almost impassable condition. Monday morning a large gang of men began to tear up the old shattered and broken planks preparatory to placing down a new roadway. The old planks are utilized by putting them down along E street, between Front and First. North Front is being leveled, new cross timbers are to be placed down soon, to which heavy planks, four inches in thickness, will be securely spiked. The roadway will be completed in a few days, and travel will be resumed along that portion of the street.

SCANDINAVIAN SOCIETY.—A meeting of our Scandinavian citizens was held over the Postoffice last Saturday evening for the purpose of organizing a Scandinavian Society, with the objects in view of self protection and benevolence. Only a temporary organization was effected by the election of the following officers pro tem: President, M. Oswald; Vice President, C. F. Peterson; Secretary, H. M. Krohg; Treasurer, D. Wuneberg. A meeting will be held next Saturday evening at the same place to complete the organization and elect permanent officers. A cordial invitation is extended to all resident Scandinavians.

MASONIC CEMETERY.—A movement is on foot, we hear, by members of the Masonic Order in this city, for the purchase of a piece of land suitable for the location of a cemetery. The cemetery will doubtless be somewhere on the eastern side of the river, contiguous to the Lone Fir and Catholic burying grounds. If the negotiations succeed, the grounds will be beautified, ornamented with shrubbery, etc. We learn, however, that the movement has as yet assumed no definite form.

AT ASTORIA.—In consequence of a strong southwest wind and rough bar, the bark Ilione and ship Victoria Cross did not pass to sea on last Sunday. Both were lying below Astoria when the Dixie Thompson left there.

The bark Cariboo and the schooner Oregonian have both crossed the bar, one bound for Europe and the other for San Francisco.

At Astoria there are now lying the barks Northumbria and Penang.

ON THE CRUISE.—The lighthouse tender Shubrick returned to Astoria a few days ago, after a short cruise along the coast. She will remain at that port until the arrival of Capt. Spotts, who is a passenger on the Ajax, due from San Francisco. On the arrival of that steamer here, Major Robert and Capt. Spotts will embark on the Shubrick and visit officially the various lighthouses along the northwest coast.

A. Ehman builds neat and substantial cottage houses, hard finished, for $650. Prices for story and a half and two story houses reasonable in proportion. Plans of houses on hand. Inquire at 105 First street, opposite postoffice.

LAUNCHED.—The Fleetwing, owned by Mr Harry Troup, was launched a few days since at Vancouver, and made her trial trip last Sunday. This little craft, although only 22 feet long, has been rigged after the style of a clipper ship. When under full sail she carries 60 yards of canvas. Favored by a good wind the Fleetwing can make very creditable speed. The result of the trial last Sunday was entirely satisfactory, the little craft presenting a trim, neat aspect as she scudded gracefully before the breeze. We learn that the owner proposes to sail over to this city the first opportunity.

WITH BOLTS.—The bark Free Trade was towed down the river yesterday morning by the Merrimac. The bark only proceeded to the mouth of the Wallamet. At that point she came to an anchor, and will load with cottonwood bolts for San Francisco. The bolts of which her cargo will consist will be brought from an island opposite Vancouver. They will be conveyed to the bark by means of lighters.

ON THE RIVERSIDE.—Mr C M Carter has concluded to construct several brick buildings on the river side of Front, near Alder street. These buildings will occupy the site of the wooden tenements which were destroyed last December. Plans, we learn, will be drawn at once, and work commenced as soon as the weather permits and material can be obtained.

STORE BUILDING.—Work on a large store building is soon to begin in East Portland, at the corner of Fourth and I streets, by a Mr. Morgan. The structure will be built of wood, two stories high, 60x25 feet. The ground floor will be occupied as a store room, and the second story probably rented for a public hall.

REAR WALL.—Stone masons yesterday commenced the building of the rear wall on which the brick building of L. Corbett is to rest, at the corner of Washington and Front streets. The excavation is nearly completed, and when brick can be brought on the ground the structure will begin to rise.

LIVELY.—Business at St. Helens is reported to be unusually lively for this season of the year. There are at present one brig and three schooners loading with lumber at that point, for San Francisco. Several buildings are in process of construction, and others will be built this summer.

FIRST RUN.—Cutting salmon for canning purposes has begun at the several fisheries down the Columbia. This is the first run of spring salmon. Great preparations are being made at the fisheries for the general catch, which season will soon be at hand.

CATTLE.—Two hundred and fifty head of young cattle were brought down by train last evening from Halsey. These cattle will be taken to the Dalles this morning, and from thence driven to the grazing regions of Eastern Oregon.

OFF FOR ST. HELENS.—The schooners Parallel and Marietta, having completed discharging their cargoes at this port, were towed down the river yesterday to St. Helens, where they will load with lumber for San Francisco.

LEFT FOR ASTORIA.—The bark Gemma completed her cargo of grain yesterday and started down the river. She will proceed to Astoria and pass out to sea at the earliest opportunity.

NOT IN.—Although due at this port from San Francisco the steamer Ajax had not arrived up to the hour of going to press. However, her arrival can be anticipated at any time.

LAID UP FOR REPAIRS.—The steamer Onconta will go to the bone yard in a few days to undergo some repairs. Her place will be temporarily taken by the Emma Hayward.

Remember the Noon Day Prayer Meetings at the rooms of the Y. M. C. A., corner of Stark and First street, from 12½ to 1 o'clock.

The furniture and fixtures of the International Hotel will be offered at private sale on and after Thursday, the 20th instant.

STEAMSHIP ARRIVED.—The O. S. S. Co.'s steamship Ajax from San Francisco arrived this morning at 1 20 o'clock.

LOCAL BREVITIES

Council meeting this evening.

Charming weather yesterday.

Measles and whooping cough are the prevailing epidemics among children.

Prof. John Cordes, the musician, is expected to arrive on the Oriflamme.

The Waldron Troupe, we learn, will return to this city about the 29th inst.

The Oregon Steamship Co. have issued a new freight tariff on the river route.

The schooner Clara Light is in the line between Puget Sound and San Francisco.

The mania for transplanting shrubbery and pruning ornamental shade trees has begun.

All hopes that the Geo. S. Wright, or those on board, have not met a common fate, have vanished.

The Free Trade carried away seventy tons of old iron for the Pacific Rolling mill, San Francisco.

A letter came through the Postoffice last evening, addressed "Oregon, San Francisco, California."

"Aladdin's Lamp" and "You may win him back by Kindness" are the latest musical productions from the house of M. Gray.

Four fawns, of the black tailed species, from Oregon have been placed among the curiosities at Woodward's Gardens, San Francisco.

The receding waters have deposited large quantities of sand on Flanders' wharf. Yesterday several teams were engaged in hauling it away.

Workmen were engaged yesterday in excavating the lot adjoining Everding & Beebe's, preparatory to laying the foundation of a new brick building.

Contractors are making active preparations to shortly inaugurate the building season. A number of important improvements are held in contemplation.

Three small dwelling houses have recently been finished on the eastern bank of the river just south of Brooklyn creek, near the site of the new stove foundry.

The gates have been adjusted to the new fence around Trinity Church in a most substantial manner, and the painting of the same makes that particular work complete.

After a delay of several weeks, the immense wooden structure, known as the "City Stable," reaching across the block from Second to Third street, was moved over and settled firmly on "its pins" yesterday.

COURT PROCEEDINGS

U. S. DISTRICT COURT—DEADY, J.

TUESDAY, March 18, 1873

Jury discharged and paid off.

CIRCUIT COURT—UPTON, J.

City of Portland vs Anton Merlo, judgment on dismissal of appeal for plaintiff.

T. L. Bounds vs City of Portland, judgment on verdict of jury for defendant for costs.

BUSINESS NOTICES

Read Kilbourn's advertisement in another column. He will dispose of at auction, to day, the entire furniture and fixtures belonging to the International Hotel. This includes all the beds and bedding, tables, chairs, etc., also, a large omnibus, express wagon, harness and other fixtures too numerous to mention. The sale commences promptly at 10 o'clock A. M. All desirous of securing good bargains should be punctually on hand at that hour.

FOR THE LADIES.

Railroad conductors in Illinois seem to be a facetious set of beings. A party of school girls lately set out from the village of Ludlow on an excursion, and the tremendous funny man who had charge of the train on which they rode, locked fifteen of them into a car and switched it off on a side track and left it there.

The reason the New York belles dote on Joaquin Miller is because he whistled while in their parlors, and in a gruff voice ordered a servant who had just placed a cuspador in front of him, to "remove that ornamental vessel, poltroon, or I will spit in it." This was so original, so naive, that the girls could not help but admire the unshampooed poet of the Sierras.

A pretty suit of green cashmere of a rather light shade would be equally suitable for the present and for the first Spring months. It has a fresh, attractive appearance being trimmed with green moire ribbon. Upon the demi-trained skirt is laid a pointed flounce, each point being festooned with a ribbon bow. The flounce is headed with a double box plaiting of the material. Overskirt cut square in the back and rounded in front, trimmed with points to correspond with the underskirt. Corsage with deep basques opens over a vest of black velvet and trimmed all around with a box plaiting of ribbon. Coat sleeves and Medici, or upright frill of lace in the neck.

Dr. Schliemann's Researches

WAS THE GODDESS MINERVA "BRIGHT-EYED" OR "OWL FACED?"—THE IDOLS OF ILIOS.

A short time since we made mention of the researches of Dr. Schliemann in the ruins of ancient Troy. The following extract attests the value of the archeologist's discoveries.

The German archeologist, Dr. Schliemann, writing from Athens to the Allgemeine Zeitung about his discoveries on the plains of Troy, says that he has come to the conclusion that the Homeric epithet glaucopis, as applied to Athene does not mean, as is generally supposed, "blue" or "bright-eyed," but "with the face of an owl." "I found," he writes, "at a depth of two metres immediately under the ruins of the Greek colony which, according to Strabo (XIII., 1, 21), must have been founded under the Lydian rule, and therefore about 700 B. C., some terra-cotta goblets with profiles of owl faces covered with a sort of helmet. Similar goblets were found in great quantities at a depth of nine metres, and, others again at a depth of twelve metres. Besides these, there were idols made of a flat and very hard white stone, on many of which are engraved the same owl face and a woman's girdle, some of the girdles are adorned with dots. These idols were found in rubbish, from two and a half to sixteen metres deep, and are from four to six centimetres long and from two and a half to four centimetres wide. Three of the idols, found at a depth of eight to nine metres, have a single dot on the girdle, one, nine metres deep, has a branch engraved on the forehead; on another, eight inches deep, there are two breasts. Five other small idols in terra cotta were found at depths of three, six, eight, nine and fourteen metres respectively. On those found at depths of three and eight metres are engraved owl faces, necker chiefs, two woman's breasts, and on the reverse side the back of a head, with long flowing hair. These images of owl faces with female bodies which are so constantly occurring on goblets, vases and idols, can only represent a goddess, and this goddess can only be Minerva, especially as Homer constantly calls her Thea glaucopis Athene, or 'the owl faced goddess Athene.'" Dr Schliemann infers from this that, as civilization progressed, Pallas Athene gradually obtained a human face and that the fact of her having been originally depicted with the face of an owl gave rise to the practice of representing the owl as her favorite bird. He adds that, although contrary to all previous experience, traces of the higher civilization are found in Troy in the lowest strata, this is not the case with the remains of sculpture, for he has found the rudest specimens of the art at a depth of from fourteen to sixteen metres. Dr Schliemann says that on the 1st of February he proposes to resume his excavations on the site of Troy with 150 workmen, and that he will then search for the remains of the Temple of Minerva and of the colossal walls of the great tower of Ilium.

ONE OF DISRAELI'S CRITICISMS.—One of the novelties of the Queen's speech was the prayer with which it concluded for a special blessing on the deliberations of Parliament at the present time. "I re-echo that prayer for Divine guidance," said Mr. Disraeli, "for I believe we never required it more"—as much as to say that the Deity would have plenty to do to save the country from the consequence of being governed by Mr. Gladstone. There is an old story of a timid passenger asking the captain of a ship, in a storm, what hope there was. "We must trust to God," replied the captain. "And has it come to that?" groaned the poor fellow, in despair.—London Cor. N. Y. Times

PERSONAL NOTES.

One of the beasts protected by Bergh severely kicked him.

George William Curtis is seriously ill of a species of typhoid fever.

John P. Hale is suffering from confirmed paralysis and softening of the brain, and cannot live much longer.

Mr Joaquin Miller, it is announced, is writing a poem entitled, "By the Sun down Seas," which will be published in London next fall.

The Empress Eugenie's response to King William's message of condolence was substantially as follows: "I know how you think you feel, but it's too thin."

The skeleton found by Capt. Hall, in the Arctic regions, is believed to be that of Lieut Le Visconte, one of Sir John Franklin's officers. It has been buried at Greenwich.

By the adjustment of her cotton claim against the United States, Mrs McDonald, a widow lady of Atlanta, Georgia, returned from Washington to her home, the other day, with $95,000 in her pocket.

As President of the French republic, M Thiers entertains only a sentiment of profound satisfaction at the death of the late Emperor, but as a member of the order of the Golden Fleece he wears a badge of mourning for the demise of a departed associate.

Gen Philip Sheridan will, it is said, soon issue a work embodying the facts which he gleaned from his observations of the Franco-Prussian war. Although the General served his country as a guest of the Prussian Government, he is at liberty to disclose the facts in reference to military tactics.

General Fitz Hugh Lee sat down to dinner at the same table with the negro Pinchback, at Washington, the other day, and remained until he had finished a square meal. When quizzed about it, Lee remarked: "Pinchback did not say anything to me, and I hope my presence was not distasteful to him."

Hart, the Kentucky sculptor, is in Florence, engaged upon a beautiful female figure. On being asked how long it would take to complete the work, he replied, "Several years." Some surprise being expressed at the time necessary, the sculptor remarked: "You know it takes even the Almighty nineteen years to make a perfect woman."

The wife of Marshal Serrano would not hold the baby son of King Amadeus at the ceremony of his presentation to the Spanish nobility. At the last moment the widow of General Prim was substituted for the chief lady of the chamber. This was one of the vexations which sent the Savoyard out of Madrid.

TOOTHACHE, EARACHE, ETC.—It is a bad practice to put cotton wool, soaked in laudanum, or chloroform, into the ear for the relief of toothache. It is true that it may sometimes prove effectual, and procure a night's rest, for the connection between the teeth and ear is very close. But let it be borne in mind that the ear is far too delicate an organ to be used as a medium for the applications are always accompanied with risk. The teeth should be looked after for themselves, by some competent dentist; and if toothache spreads to the ear, this is another reason why they should be attended to at once, for prolonged pain in the head, arising from teeth may itself injure the hearing. In earache everything should be done to sooth it, and all strong irritating applications should be avoided. Pieces of hot fig or onion should on no account be put in; but warm flannels should be applied, with poppy fermentation externally, if the pain does not soon subside.

The Land Office has information that forty thousand Israelites from Roumania and other parts of Europe are making arrangements to settle in this country, and thus escape the persecution to which they have been and are subjected in their native land. There is a company formed with a paid up capital of one million five hundred thousand dollars, and they want to purchase a body of land here and settle together. The Land Office has sent the necessary information abroad, showing how our lands may be obtained.

TO CURE SORE THROAT.—Take the whites of two eggs and beat them with two spoonfuls of white sugar; grate in a little nutmeg, and then add a pint of lukewarm water. Stir well, and drink often. Repeat the prescription if necessary, and it will cure the most obstinate case of hoarseness in a short time.

The Philadelphia Scientific Journal says that "Messrs. Geo. P. Rowell & Co., of New York, are so well and extensively known all over this continent that to name them and explain the nature of their business would be superfluous. No Newspaper Advertising Agency has ever displayed more energy and skill in the transaction of this delicate and tact requiring business."

WONDERFUL ARE the cures which have been effected by Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. It is a direct cure for coughs, colds, bronchitis, whooping-cough, etc., and gives tone and vigor to the whole system. Thousands give unsolicited testimony as to its effects.

The Atmosphere of Spring

With every change of season we have a change in the hygienic [illegible] of the air. In the spring it is impregnated especially in low lying wet districts, with [illegible] vapors which generate chills or fever [illegible] [illegible] of the organs of respiration. It is therefore particularly necessary at this time of the year to invigorate and regulate the system, so as to enable it to repel the morbid influences to which it is more or less subjected. The stomach should be toned, the bowels freed from obstructions, the blood purified, and the nerves braced and strengthened. This can be easily done. Hostetter's Stomach Bitters are everywhere procurable, and in the whole range of remedies and preventives prescribed by the faculty or recommended through the press, there is not one that combines in such an eminent degree great efficiency and perfect harmlessness. It is a positive antidote to malaria. Whoever takes it habitually may breathe the atmosphere of the worst fever and ague locality without danger. Damp and chilling winds make little or no impression on the organization reinforced with this powerful vegetable invigorant, and consequently it is a good safeguard against asthma, coughs, colds and other pulmonary complaints. It is not recommended as a remedy for this latter class of maladies but simply as a means of strengthening the system against the atmospheric conditions and changes which so often produce them. As a spring invigorant and alterative it will be found extremely beneficial to persons who are peculiarly sensitive to unhealthy atmospheric influences.

PLANTATION BITTERS!
S. T.—1860—X.
This wonderful vegetable restorative is the sheet-anchor of the feeble and debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal among stomachics. As a remedy for the nervous weakness to which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, tropical, temperate or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

IN Heavy Cases.
WE HAVE SENT GREAT NUMBERS OF THESE excellent Watches to our customers in the Pacific States, and all have given satisfaction. We have for several years sold more American Watches than any other house in the country, either wholesale or retail, and the reason is that our prices are low and we only sell a good article. Our plan is to send single Watches by Express to any place, no matter how remote, with the bill to collect on delivery; to let the purchaser open the package and examine the Watch, and be perfectly satisfied before paying the bill; and we offer, for any Watch that does not prove satisfactory, to Refund the Money
If you will write for our Descriptive Price List, we will mail it to you without expense, and from it you will see that you can buy a genuine Waltham Watch of us at the lowest possible New York prices, and without any risk whatever. We send so many Watches to the Pacific States that we always have 4, 5, 6 and 8 oz. cases on hand, so as to fill orders promptly. When you write, mention that you saw this notice in the Portland (Or.) Oregonian, and if you want reference we can name persons in every county on the coast that have had Watches from us. DECISION IN THE U. S. DISTRICT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY.

United States Circuit Court, District of Oregon—Monday, November 18, 1872.

Lansing B. Mizner vs. George W. Vaughn, action to recover possession of real property—No. 84.

Emma B. Lamb vs. George W. Vaughn, same—No. 85.

Ida Squires vs. George W. Vaughn, same—No. 86.

A settler on the public lands under the donation act (9 Stat. 497) had a present grant by force and operation of such act from the date of his settlement, unless such settlement preceded in point of time the passage of the act, in which case the grant took effect from the date thereof, and not before.

Where a settler under section 4 of said act dies intestate after complying with the act and before the issue of patent, his estate in the land terminates and the remainder at once vests in his children, by purchase as the donees of the United States, and not by descent as the heirs of such settler.

A settler under said act is seized at the date of his settlement of a conditional fee in the land settled upon and thereafter his right to the possession is not barred by lapse of time unless it appears that the party claiming the benefit of such bar, either by himself or in connection with others with whom he is in privity, has actually occupied the premises adversely to the title of such settler, continuously for the period of twenty years subsequent to such seizin.

On September 26, 1870, the plaintiff, Mizner, commenced separate actions to recover possession of an undivided three fifths of lots 2 and 8 in block 15, lots 1 and 3 in block 5, and the south one-half of lot 4 in block 2 in the city of Portland, against 13 persons then in the actual occupation of certain parts and parcels of said lots and half lot respectively.

The occupants having answered that they were in possession only as the tenants of the defendant Vaughn, on application of said Vaughn an order was made admitting him to defend said action in place of said tenants, and that the same be consolidated.

On May 17, 1872, the defendant answered as follows

I. Denying that the plaintiff had any legal estate in the premises or right to the possession thereof.

II. That the action was barred by the statute of limitations, because neither the plaintiff nor those under whom he claims were seized or possessed of the premises in controversy within 20 years before the commencement of this action.

III. The pendency of a suit and cross suit in equity in this court, between the defendant and the grantors of the plaintiff concerning a partition and the right and title to the same property.

On motion of plaintiff the third defence was stricken out as being irrelevant and immaterial, and because, if a defense at all, being matter in abatement of the action, it could not be joined with a plea to the merits.

Afterwards the plaintiff replied to the plea of the statute of limitations, and in pursuance of the stipulation of the parties the cause was tried by the Court, without a jury, on June 12.

On the same date the plaintiffs—Lamb and Squires—commenced separate actions against the same persons to recover the possession of an undivided one tenth each of the same premises. In these actions Vaughn was also admitted to defend, and the same issues were made as in the action brought by Mizner, and by stipulation of the parties the three were tried together.

On the trial it was agreed that either party might use as evidence, if otherwise competent, any pleading, exhibit or deposition in the suit and cross suit in equity—decided March 28, 1872, in this Court concerning the same property, entitled Lamb et al. vs Vaughn, and Vaughn vs Lamb et al.

Practically, it is admitted that the plaintiffs have the legal title to the premises, and are entitled to recover the possession of them, unless their right to maintain these actions is barred by the statute of limitations.

The evidence establishes the following facts:

On September 22, 1848, Francis W. Pettygrove abandoned the land claim embracing the lots in controversy, and Daniel H. Lownsdale settled thereon, and after the passage of the donation act of September 27, 1850, namely on March 11, 1852, he made his notification of such settlement in the proper land office, and otherwise complied with the provisions of said act, and died intestate thereon and before the issue of the patent, on May 4, 1862, leaving children, Mary E. Cooper, James P. O. and Millard O. Lownsdale and Ruth A. Semple, and children of his deceased daughter Sarah, the plaintiffs Lamb and Squires.

The patent certificate showing compliance by Daniel H. with the conditions of residence and cultivation required by the donation act issued to the deceased on October 17, 1860, and the patent on June 6, 1865.

Prior to the settlement of Daniel H. the land claim described "in the patent was occupied by F. W. Pettygrove and Benjamin Stark, who held the bare possession under the laws of the provisional government, but without any claim of right to or interest in the soil, which then belonged to the United States.

During this occupancy said Pettygrove and Stark sold and quit-claimed the lots in controversy, except lot 2 in block 15 and south ½ of lot 4 in block 2, as follows: Lots 1 and 2 in block 5 to Thomas Stephens, on March 6, 1849; lot 3 in block 5 to Albert E. Wilson, on March 8, 1849; lot 8 in block 15 to Hugh D. O'Bryant, on March 13, 1847.

A deed was offered in evidence, but rejected for want of proof from one Geer to Atwood for lot 2 in block 15, dated January 25, 1848, and a witness testifies that Geer purchased of Pettygrove; and that he purchased of Atwood and was in possession in September, 1848, and March, 1849; but there is no evidence to connect the defendant Vaughn with either the alleged purchase from Pettygrove or deed to Atwood.

Vaughn testifies that he purchased south ½ of lot 4 in block 2 in 1855 of James Anderson, and that he had improved it in 1851 and occupied it since the purchase. He also states that before purchasing he conversed with Daniel H., who told him that the lot was in the Pettygrove title or tract, which consisted of 15 or 16 blocks that Pettygrove had laid off into town lots during his occupation of the land, and that he had given a bond to make title when he got one from the United States.

Lot 1 in block 5 is the only part of the premises to which the defendant proves a paper title back to Pettygrove, but when, if ever, he entered into actual possession of it does not appear; neither does it appear whether his immediate grantor, Thomas Stephens, was in possession at the date of the deed to him or not.

The law arising upon these facts, is in the main well settled in this Court and not be more than stated here. Daniel H. being in the occupancy of this land when the donation act passed, and having subsequently proven his compliance with the law, became the owner in fee of the premises from September 27, 1850, by virtue of the grant contained in section 4 of such donation act (9 Stat. 497), subject to the contingency that if he died before patent issued and intestate his estate terminated and the remainder should vest in his children in equal parts. Field vs Squires (1 Deady, 381); Lamb vs Starr, (Id. 452)

This contingency actually happened, and on May 4, 1862, the four children of Daniel H. became the owners in fee of the premises as the direct donees of the United States and not as the heirs of their father.

This being so the plaintiff Mizner and his grantors, Lownsdale, Cooper and Semple, at the commencement of this action had been seized of the premises within twenty or even ten years, and therefore he is not barred from maintaining it for the possession. In other words the cause of action did not arise until after the death of Daniel H., and the vesting of the remainder in his children.

But from this construction of the act it necessarily follows that neither Lamb or Squires took any interest in the remainder, the same being limited by the act to the children of Daniel H. They are not his children, but the children of his daughter who died before him and therefore before the remainder vested. Neither can they take an interest in such remainder as his heirs, because although the act limits the estate to the "children or heirs," of the deceased settler, it does not grant it to both children and heirs if these terms should include different persons, as in this case. The natural and most reasonable meaning of the phrase is, to the children first and in default of those, to whoever may constitute the legal heirs of the deceased. Lamb vs Starr (1 Deady's, 358). As to these plaintiffs, then, the finding of the court must be that they are not the legal owners of one-fifth each of the premises or any other portion thereof, and therefore judgment must be given against them; while the plaintiff Mizner is entitled to recover a ⅘ interest instead of a three fifth.

But it is contended for the defendant that Daniel H. died siezed of an estate of inheritance in the premises, which thereupon descended to his children as his heirs, and that therefore neither they nor their grantee, Mizner, can maintain this action unless he could, if living. If the premises are correct the conclusion follows. Let it be assumed then, for the present, that the children of Daniel H. took as his heirs and not as donees of the United States, or, in other words, that he died seized of an estate of inheritance, could he, if living, have maintained this action? Counsel for the defendant admit that he could, being the owner of the legal estate, unless he would be barred by the statute of limitations.

This question involves the enquiry, when did the title vest in Daniel H., and thereby give him a cause and right of action against an adverse occupant, and what is the nature and effect of the occupancy of the premises as shown on behalf of the defendant?

It is the settled law of this court until otherwise determined by a superior, that a settler under the donation act had a present grant by force and operation of such act from the date of his settlement, unless such settlement preceded in point of time the passage of the act, in which case the grant took effect from the date thereof and not before Fields vs. Squires (1 Deady, 378)

This being so, Daniel H., if living, might have maintained this action, even admitting that the defendant by himself or those with whom he is in privity of possession, had been in the continuous, open and adverse possession of the premises from the date of the grant by the United States to Daniel H., up to the commencement of this action, because he would have been seized at the date of such grant, which was within twenty years prior to the bringing of the action

In Daswell vs. De la Lanza et al. (20 How., 32) the defendants were in possession of the premises in controversy without title, prior to the siezin of the plaintiff, and the court said that "in regard to him they cannot be considered as having ejected him by their entry, his legal title not having then accrued."

The defendant entered without title and has never acquired any, and unless there has been a continuous adverse occupation of the premises for twenty years by him or those with whom he is in privity, the plea of the statute of limitations cannot be upheld. It is urged, however, that for the purpose of preventing a recovery in this case and protecting the defendant in his possession, the Court ought to hold that the title of Daniel H took effect by relation from the date of his settlement in 1848

The insuperable objection to this proposition is that the occupation of Daniel H was not commenced under the act making the grant, and prior to its passage had no relation to it whatever Fields vs Squires (supra 378). In Gibson vs Chouteau, (13 Wal., 101) Mr. Justice Fields, delivering the opinion of the Court, says: "The doctrine of relation is a fiction of law adopted by the Courts solely for the purpose of justice, and is only applied for the security and protection of persons who stand in some privity with the party that initiated proceedings for the land and acquired the equitable claim or right to the title."

Now, if the defendant had entered under Daniel H., or claimed an interest in or right to the land in pursuance of some contract made with the latter while he was in the occupation of the premises, there would be some propriety in holding that the grant to Daniel H. took effect by relation from the commencement of such occupation, if that were necessary to protect the defendant's rights under such entry or contract. But in the case at bar the application of the fiction of relation would work an injustice rather than otherwise. The defense is simply an adverse possession for twenty years. There is no privity between the parties to this action. Vaughn and those under whom he claims are strangers to Daniel H. and his title. So far as he and his children are concerned, they are and always were mere intruders upon the premises.

As was said by the Court, Sawyer, J., in the opinion in the equity suit above mentioned.

"There is no direct contract relating to those lots, either verbal or written, upon any consideration moving between the parties, Lownsdale, and complainant Vaughn, or any of the latter's grantors. * * * He (Lownsdale) never purchased the lots and never had or claimed any interest in them, till he acquired an interest under the said Donation Act. It was, therefore, a matter of no concern to him what use was made of them by the parties in possession, before he himself acquired any rights thereto, and he had no occasion to object to, or interfere with, the action of the possessor or the claimants under Pettygrove."

But it is not admitted that Vaughn's possession has any of the elements necessary to make it a bar to this action even if the grant to Daniel H. were held to take effect by relation from September 22, 1848, the date of his occupation.

In the first place, he is not shown to have any privity with any one that ever was upon or about the premises, either by deed or actual possession, except Stephens as to lot 1 in block 5. In that instance the evidence shows that Vaughn obtained a deed from Stephens, the grantee of Pettygrove and Stark on September 26, 1850. But admitting that Stephens occupied the lot adversely to Daniel H. for some years after the grant to the latter, there is no evidence as to the character or even the fact of Vaughn's possession.

As to lot 3 in block 5, there is no direct evidence that the defendant ever had possession of it, or that he is connected by deed with Pettygrove. A deed dated September 24, 1858, for this lot, executed by Thomas Smith as guardian of his minor son, A. C. Smith, the grantee of Albert E. Wilson aforesaid to the defendant, was offered in evidence, but not admitted, for want of authority in the guardian to make the sale. So it is probable that the defendant's claim to this lot does not go back farther than that date.

Lot 8 in block 5 was attempted to be conveyed to defendant on February 17, 1857, by Gilbert and Rockwell, the successors in deed to Hugh O'Bryant, Pettygrove's grantee, by Pomeroy, as their attorney in fact; but no authority to Pomeroy being shown, the deed was not admitted. There is no testimony to show that the defendant ever actually occupied the lot, and his claim to it probably commenced at the dates of this supposed deed from G. and R., and grew out of it.

Lot 2 in block 15 is not shown to have ever been claimed or occupied by defendant, and there is no proof that he is the successor by deed or possession of Pettygrove or his grantees. The south ½ of lot 4 in block 2, on which there are valuable improvements, was purchased of Anderson in 1855, but how long prior thereto, and under whom or what circumstances he occupied, it does not appear. The defendant testifies that he has been in actual possession since the purchase from Anderson, but makes no proof that he is the successor by deed or possession of Pettygrove or his grantees.

As to the claim under which the defendant occupied the lot it may reasonably be inferred from his deposition and the statements in his cross bill aforesaid, that he regarded Daniel H. as the legal owner of the property, but expected to get a title from him in pursuance of a certain bond given by Daniel H. to Pettygrove upon the abandonment of the land claim by the latter; and it is probable that all the other lots in controversy were claimed under the same circumstances and expectation.

Upon the evidence then, there is no ground to maintain that Vaughn, or any one with whom he is in privity, either by deed or possession, taken separately or together, had occupied any of these premises continuously for twenty years before the commencement of this action, unless it be lot 1 in block 5, and in that case, admitting all that is claimed for the defendant, the possession of himself and predecessors could not be held adverse to the title of Daniel H. before it came to him from the United States by the passage of the Donation Act, on September 27, 1850.

The defendant in the actions by Lamb and Squires is entitled to judgment that they take nothing by said actions and for costs, and the plaintiff, Mizner, is entitled to judgment for the possession of an undivided ⅘ of the premises, and for costs.

DEADY, J.

W. Law Hill and E. C. Bronaugh, for plffs.

FINANCE AND COMMERCE.

TUESDAY EVENING, March 18, 1873.

Gold in New York to-day, 115¼.

Portland Legal Tender rates, 87 buying, 88 selling.

Gold bars are quotable at 800 fine.

A New York paper of a recent date thus describes the way in which financial matters are manipulated in Wall street.

Many capitalists and some bankers and bank officers now lend their capital to brokers at 7 per cent—the legal limit—and divide with them any commissions they can make in addition thereto. This makes the daily rate for money dependent largely upon the efforts and skill of brokers, and any one well acquainted with Wall street knows full well that brokers are equal to an emergency of this kind; in fact, the dealings in money during the week have clearly demonstrated this. Eminently respectable capitalists like sometimes to Shylock borrowers but ever since the events of a few years since, they have had a dread of a short residence in the Egyptian palace in Centre street for violation of the usury laws, hence they calm their conscientious scruples and quiet their fears of justice by shielding themselves behind enterprising brokers. Bank cashiers have been seized with a periodical fit of conservatism, in certifying checks for brokers, a result of the panic on the Stock Exchange, and this, in connection with a shifting of loans to a greater extent than usual, has assisted in tightening money. In the past, high rates for money here at this season of the year have attracted outside capital, but this year seems to be an exception to so general a rule, or if any money has really flowed this way, it has been too insignificant an amount to bring any relief. Many exceptional and natural causes have been at work this year, among them an outflow of currency from this point to the interior during the month of February. The city banks are below their reserve, and the national banks have been getting their affairs into as good a shape as possible in preparation for an expected call from the Comptroller of the Currency. Formerly the banks were depended upon to assist Wall street in an emergency like the present, but times have changed wonderfully within a few years, and now the borrowers on call place very little dependence on the banks for assistance when money is stringent, in fact, the trade and commerce of New York city have grown so rapidly that the banks find it about as much as they can do to accommodate merchants with discounts. It is safe to say that the city bank loans now represent only a small amount, comparatively speaking, in the shape of call loans to brokers.

A Washington dispatch of the 12th says the Secretary of the Treasury states that the use by the Department of the legal tender reserve will not exceed three millions, and it is hardly expected that it will be much over two millions. The amount drawn from the reserve fund is for the convenience of the Department alone, and has no relation whatever to the money market, and is not concentrated at any one place, but distributed in payment of warrants to parties all over the country. There is no intention at the Department to permanently expand the currency. The Treasurer's statement to-day shows legal tenders outstanding to be $357,059,450, being $1,059,450 in advance of the amount shown in the last debt statement.

The Secretary of the Treasury has given official notice that the principal and accrued interest of the bonds herein below designated and known as 5-20 bonds, will be paid by the Treasury in Washington, on and after the 1st day of June, 1873, and that the interest on said bonds will cease on that day. That is to say, the coupon bonds known as the second and third series, act of February 25, 1862, dated May 1, 1862, as follows

Coupon bonds—second series—$50, Nos 10,776 to 17,798, $100, Nos 25,096 to 58,046, $500, Nos 15,185 to 41,472, $1,000, Nos 27,441 to 71,260.

Third series—$50, Nos 1 to 1,200; $100, Nos 1 to 4,762, $500, Nos 1 to 3,000, $1,000, Nos 1 to 5,755—total, $45,000,000. Also, registered bonds, $50, Nos 641 to 1,235; $100, Nos 5,092 to 8,864; $500, Nos 2,951 to 5,386, $1,000, Nos 13,151 to 20,086; $5,000, Nos 4,103 to 6,102; $10,000, Nos 4,775 to 7,000—total, $6,000,000. Total, $60,000,000. Of the amount outstanding, embraced in the numbers as above, $45,000,000 are coupon bonds, and $5,000,000 registered bonds.

Home Produce Market.

WHEAT—The market is quiet, and though purchases are occasionally made by parties who can procure tonnage, there is no indication of any unusual movement. One firm has bought near 20,000 bushels during the past week, paying, as we are informed, $1 60 ℔ cental, which may be considered the ruling price to-day.

FLOUR—The demand is light, and, owing to the continued low rates for wheat, agents are becoming more anxious sellers at current rates. Standard brands of extra are quotable still at $5 50 ℔ bbl. Outside and country brands, $4 50@5, and superfine at $4.

OATS—There are some lots coming to hand, for which there is a very fair inquiry at 60c ℔ bushel sacked. Beyond a limited quantity held by speculators it is believed that there is not a great deal yet back.

BARLEY—We note small transactions at $1 45 ℔ cental sacked, but beyond a limited demand for local consumption the call is not active.

HAY—The supply is well kept up since our last report and prices though not absolutely lower, are decidedly weaker. We quote good Timothy at $15@16 ℔ ton. Wild upland at $15. Swamp grass dull at $8@10.

POTATOES—The receipts during the last two days have been rather in excess of the corresponding period last week, but quotations generally remain unchanged, the range being 35a45 cents ℔ bushel, the latter for choice lots only.

APPLES—The last year's crop was short at first and is now evidently pretty well out of first hands. Hence we note diminishing receipts and a fair demand for best varieties. Prices range very wide, and though many lots sell from wagons at 60@75 cents ℔ box, choice for shipping, neatly packed, more readily command $1.

ONIONS—There is quite a brisk demand and but limited supply. We quote at 2½@2¾c ℔ lb.

EGGS—The supply is better and prices remain about as at our last quotations. It is evident that interior merchants have been holding back large lots judging from the receipts during the past few days. Dealers here are well supplied and some offers at 20 cents ℔ dozen have been declined.

BUTTER—The market is barren of important change. The supply of a best quality is about kept up to a local demand which is kept steady the year round. This trade is generally on a basis fixed by mutual agreement between retail dealers and producers. Other qualities vary widely in kind, manner of putting up, and price.

CHEESE—The supply of Oregon made is kept up rather better, and prices are steady at 17a18c ℔ lb.

POULTRY—The poultry market is barren of anything but chickens, which we quote at $4 50@5 per dozen for best lots, and $4 for common.

BACON—The shipments to San Francisco, though not insignificant in quantity, seem small in comparison with the unusually large supply on hand. We quote for common country cured as follows 9@10c ℔ lb for shoulders, 11@12c for sides, and 14@16c for hams. Lard is steady at our last quotations.

HIDES—Quotable with a fair demand at 6a7c ℔ lb for green, 7@8c for salted and 15@16c for dry.

Shipping Intelligence.

The steamship Ajax is due at this port from San Francisco.

It is reported that the Oriflamme was to leave San Francisco for Portland to-day.

The bark Tamaya is still taking on cargo of wheat at her wharf here.

The bark Gemini went down the river to Astoria today. She will be ready to go to sea in a few days.

At last accounts the barks Northumbria and Penang were lying at Astoria ready to proceed to sea.

The Tamaya, Gemini, Northumbria and Penang, carry wheat to Great Britain.

The bark Free Trade is loading with cottonwood bolts at the mouth of the Wallamet for San Francisco.

The schooners H. L. Tiernan, Marietta, and Parallel and the brig Orient are all loading lumber at St Helens for San Francisco.

TO THE UNFORTUNATE.

NEW REMEDIES, NEW REMEDIES

Dr. Gibbon's Dispensary,

623 KEARNEY STREET, NEAR COMMERCIAL, San Francisco. Established 1854, for the treatment of Sexual and Seminal Diseases, such as Gonorrhœa, Gleet, Stricture, Syphilis in all its forms, Seminal Weakness, Impotency, etc. Skin Diseases (of years standing) and Ulcerated Legs successfully treated.

DR. GIBBON has the pleasure of announcing that he has returned from visiting the principal Hospitals of Europe, and has resumed practice at his Dispensary, 623 Kearny street, corner of Commercial, San Francisco, where his old patients and those requiring his services may find him.

The Doctor has spared neither time nor money in seeking out new remedies, and has returned with increased facilities for the alleviation of human suffering.

Horrible Diseases.

How many thousands of persons, both male and female, are there who are suffering out a miserable existence from the effects of secret indulgences, or from virus absorbed into the system! Look at their pallid, emaciated and disfigured faces and their broken-down constitutions, disqualifying them for the happiness of marriage or the enjoyment of life. In this horrid situation thousands suffer until death closes the scene. Let parents, guardians, friends, attend to those who are suffering with any of these horrible, life-destroying maladies—see that they are cared for and cured before it be too late. Send them immediately to DR. GIBBON, a physician who has made private diseases his especial study for years, and who is certain to cure the most inveterate case, without mercury or any injurious drugs. It is important to those who are afflicted, or to those who are interested in the welfare of their friends, to be careful of the many pretended doctors who infest all cities, publishing their skill in curing all diseases in a few days, imposing upon the public by using the names of eminent physicians from Europe and other places. Be therefore careful and make strict enquiry, or you may fall into the hands of those charlatans.

Seminal Weakness.

Seminal Emissions, the consequence of self-abuse. This solitary vice, or depraved sexual indulgence, is practiced by the youth of both sexes to an almost unlimited extent, producing with unerring certainty, the following train of morbid symptoms, unless combatted by scientific medical measures, viz: Sallow countenance, dark spots under the eyes, pain in the head, ringing in the ears, noise like the rustling of leaves and rattling of chariots, uneasiness about the loins, weakness of the limbs, confused vision, blunted intellect, loss of confidence, diffidence in approaching strangers, a dislike to form new acquaintances, disposition to shun society, loss of memory, hectic flushes, pimples and various eruptions about the faces, furred tongue, feted breath, coughs, consumption, night sweats, monomania and frequent insanity. If relief be not obtained, should apply immediately, either in person or by letter, and have a cure effected by his new and scientific mode of treating this disease, which never fails of effecting a quick and radical cure. Dr. G. will give One Hundred Dollars to any person who will prove satisfactorily to him that he was cured of this complaint by either of the San Francisco quacks.

MARRIED MEN.

Or those who contemplate marriage, who are suffering under any of these fearful maladies, should not forget the sacred responsibility resting upon them nor delay to obtain immediate relief.

DOCTOR GIBBON is responsible, and will give to each patient a written instrument, binding himself to effect a radical and permanent cure, or make no charge.

CURED AT HOME.

Persons at a distance may be CURED AT HOME, by addressing a letter to Dr. Gibbon, stating case, symptoms, length of time the disease has continued, and have medicines promptly forwarded, free from damage and curiosity, to any part of the country, with full and plain directions. By inclosing Ten Dollars coin, in registered letter through the Postoffice or through Wells, Fargo & Co., a package of medicine will be forwarded to any part of the Union.

All communications strictly confidential.

Caution to the Unfortunate.

Beware of the San Francisco quacks and pretenders who, with bogus sworn-to certificates, dupe the unwary comp of the self-styled doctors, whose names are to be found in the daily and weekly newspapers of San Francisco and other places, are tradesmen and became too lazy to work at their trades. Some are tinsmiths, shoemakers, newspaper carriers, intelligence office keepers, etc. The only way to avoid imposition is to make inquiry—it will cost you nothing, and may save you many regrets; for, as advertising physicians in eight cases out of ten are bogus, there is no safety in trusting any of them until you know who and what they are. Dr. Gibbon does not deceive people by exhibiting bogus titles, certificates, pretended patients' letters, etc. Dr. Gibbon will satisfy persons who may call at his offices of his ability to treat diseases he proposes to cure.

Address DR. J. F. GIBBON, 623 Kearney street, corner Commercial, San Francisco, Post Office Box 1,057.

REMEMBER TO PUT BOX 1,057 ON THE LETTER.

Consultations FREE.

And I have made an invariable rule to advertise in dull times as well as busiest, long experience having taught me that money thus spent is well laid out, as by continually keeping my business before the public it has secured many a sale I otherwise would have lost."
